Academics...

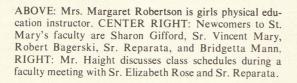

Students learn about the world with greater interest stimulated by teachers and books. They come face to face with the past to understand the present and to venture into the future. Great thinkers of all ages inspire potential leaders. Armed with knowledge, they become influential individuals and potent molders of a better world.

Christian goals guide educators

Christian education is the guiding goal of St. Mary's existence throughout its long and proud history of 103 years.

Cathedral education is accomplished and maintained through the dedicated and generous efforts of many which include teachers, secretaries, and maintenance personnel.

Christian education is dependent on all working together to maintain an educational program in keeping with the spiritual, mental, and physical needs of the students for a better living today and tomorrow.

Languages, humanities, religious education

Involvement is one of the goals of Languages, Humanities, and Religion courses.

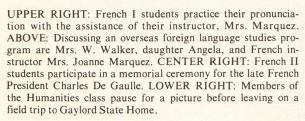

Languages include French and Latin taught by Mrs. Joanne Marquez and Sister Reparata, respectively.

Religious education is directed by Sister Vincent Mary, Father Raymond Fron, Sister Reparata, and Sister Carmelita. Guest speakers, films, recordings, and liturgical worship enliven the classes.

A class in Humanities offers a general study of thought, philosophy, and the arts with a consideration of values. Mrs. Marquez, the instructor, provides field trips and speakers to broaden the students' experience.

English curriculum meets student needs

To meet students' individual needs and interests, St. Mary's implemented "new" classes in the English curriculum. These are drama, journalism, and mass media.

Traditional English courses were broken down into one-semester electives which include the following courses: surveys of English and American literature, composition, creative writing, seminar, short story, individualized reading, and developmental reading. Freshmen English remains a two-semester course.

Instructors in the English department are Sister Elizabeth Rose, Sister Veta Marie, Sister Carmelita, Mrs. Joanne Marquez, Miss Brigetta Mann, and Miss Sharon Gifford.

Science challenges, mathematics exacts

Students are offered college-preparatory and general courses in science and mathematics to meet technological advances.

Courses in mathematics include business math, pre-algebra, algebra I and II, geometry, advanced math, and introductory analysis. The science curriculum embraces natural science, biology, chemistry, physiology, and physics.

Opportunity for independent study is provided for students to study the slide rule and topics in science.

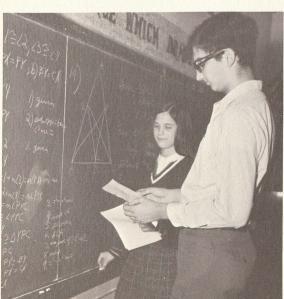

Instructors are Sister Aloyyius Marie, mathematics; Sister Nancy, physics, chemistry, and mathematics; Mr. James Kraemer, science and health.

Social Studies informs youth, weighs values, strengthens character, and develops respect for the rights of others.

Seniors investigate government, Juniors review American History for a better understanding of their rich heritage. Freshmen and sophomores study the beginnings and progress of man's history.

Instructors of Social Studies are Mr. Robert Bagerski, Mr. Larry Haight, and Mrs. Patricia Beverstein.

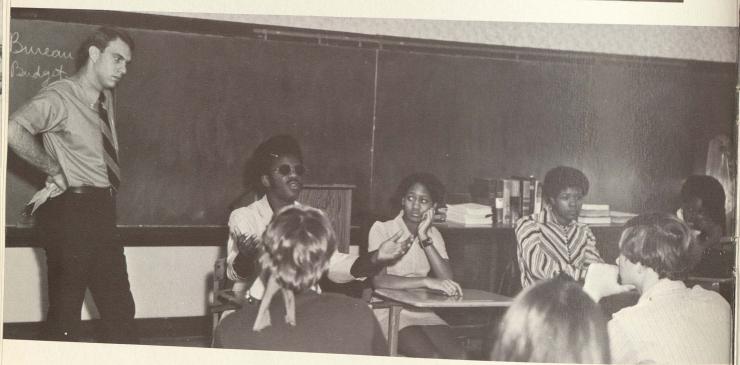

Mr. Larry Haight Head Coach, History, and Geography.

Creativity shines in new departments

The addition of two new departments, art and home economics, has enriched the curriculum of St. Mary's besides eliminating a shared-time program with Holy Rosary.

Art, taught by Mrs. Patricia Beverstein and Mr. Don Francisco, gives students an opportunity to develop their talents and ability to perfect abstract and concrete creations.

Home economics, taught by Mrs. Diana Ulbricht, is a course, both practical and artistic. It is a semester course which provides for many original projects.

Business students learn the principal aspects of clerical experience and keep pace with a rapidly changing world. St. Mary's business department is headed by Mrs. Betty Peterson.

The business classes combine theory and practice in acquiring skills and techniques. They use business machines.

The curriculum includes the following courses: typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, and Advanced Business.

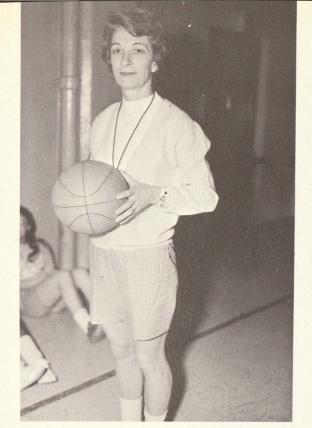

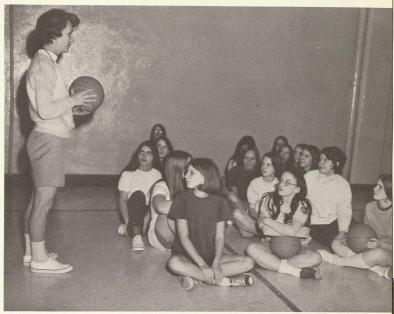

Accent on health ... recreation too

Activities...

School events center around many interests. Students keep alive the meaningful traditions of the school and the concerns of the community. By means of them, they learn to discipline themselves and to channel their talents. Involvement means responsibility to Cathedralites who enjoy togetherness while acquiring social maturity.

Innovation, united effort, action ... growth

Saint Mary Cathedral opened its doors as usual in September but to a larger enrollment than ever before. A special Registration Day was held for students to choose electives in English, art, and homemaking.

An Open House brought students, parents, and faculty together. There were opportunities for parents to visit new departments and to confer with teachers.

Since health is a community concern, as well as an individual one, TB tests were given to seniors and freshmen and all results were negative.

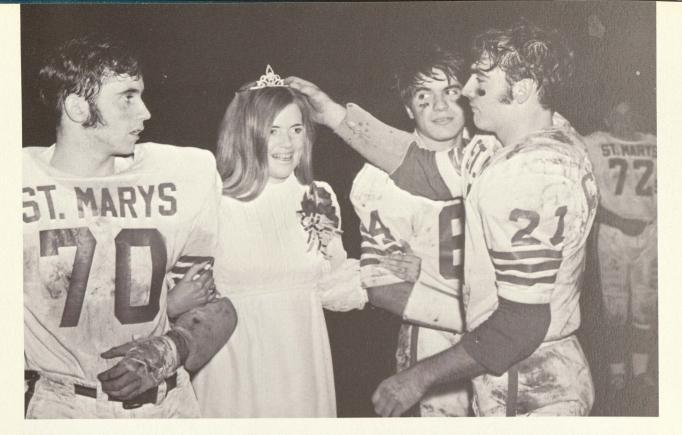

The American Legion promoted patriotism by presenting St. Mary's with several flags for class-room and outdoors display.

1970 Homecoming is colorful spectacle

Homecoming 1970 was a glorious celebration—three days of exciting events and royal festivities.

Highlighting the activities was the crowning of Queen Alice Brettrager amidst colorful pageantry at the dance "Autumn Leaves" and again at the half-time ceremonies. She was also presented the traditional roses and football. The Saginaw Youth Band performed and formed an honor guard on the field.

The Homecoming pep rally was held Halloween evening and a parade of costumes added a touch of gaity. An original skit composed by Mike Kraemer provided hilarious entertainment. Finally, "The Bells of St. Mary's" never rang so sweetly.

Educational trips enrich student life

Class trips are known to have far-reaching educational value. Meeting new people and visiting places provide special types of learning that comes only with first hand experience.

Educational events such as theater arts, choral workshops, language meetings, science explorations, and journalism conventions developed within students a deeper awareness and appreciation of educational opportunities and achievement standards. St. Mary's was on the move in many directions, seeing, learning, and enjoying quality productions.

An issue, a campaign top many projects

Cathedral students have a record of being variously involved in community projects, but this year a different kind of activity challenged their wholehearted concern — a campaign to oppose Proposal C aimed at destroying parochiaid.

Student projects, however, were not all serious. On the lighter side there was a visit from the Great Pumpkin on Halloween and the special hot lunches served by the PTA. Some students were elected to enter community competitions such as the DAR Good Citizen and the United Fund Queen competitions.

Events to remember — banquet, prom, honors

Stories and pictures of some special days at St. Mary's Cathedral make enjoyable fillers for scrapbooks. These days vary in importance and interest. They range in variety from handing out awards to students for academic accomplishments to presenting a gift, a "surprise hat" to Monsignor; or the announcement of the prettiest "farm girl" at the Prom to listening to an inspiring speaker and honored guest.

Such events make life for Cathedralites aware of the individual as well as the group.

Sharing our gifts brings 'Joy to the World'

"Spreading joy" are key words in St. Mary's celebration of Christmas.

To the students, Christmas means presenting food offerings during the Golden Mass for needy families.

To the P.T.A., it means sponsoring a tea for the faculty.

To the Cathedral Choir, it means singing for the turning on of the city's Christmas lights.

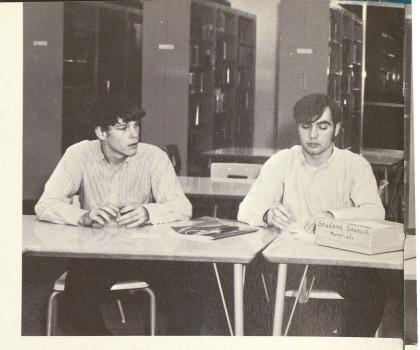

It's this spirit of giving with charity toward all that makes the Cathedral spirit of Christmas special.

Student talent sparks activities

Every student at St. Mary's is an individual possessing talent, ability, and interests. If he is willing to work, he can produce something worthwhile.

School activities come in various forms such as preparing skits and decorating halls for Homecoming, performing one-act plays, and exhibiting art. And not the least of the activities are the Cathedral Youth Credit Union, the trip to Stratford, Canada, and the hosting of an Exchange Student.

Some school events strengthen sociability

To make a friend, one must be a friend, and Monsignor is in fact and deed, St. Mary's best friend. He encourages social activities by his interest and help.

One of Monsignor's favorite and personally sponsored events is the Annual Senior Soiree held in the rectory garage.

A student-packed gym and the thundering music of a dance band are not obstacles to Monsignor's well-known sociability. He encourages both faculty and students by his presence.

Athletics...

Athletes learn the importance of teamwork. They take pride in being able to contribute their skills, individual efforts and strengths to the outstanding achievements of the team and school. They have the spirit to win even in the face of defeat. This spirit of team competition will continue to be a strong influence on their lives.

1970 Coach, captains, team — glory and gloom

Coach Larry Haight plots game strategy with Tri-Captains Marty Quinnan, Don Serrato, and Rick Bethune.

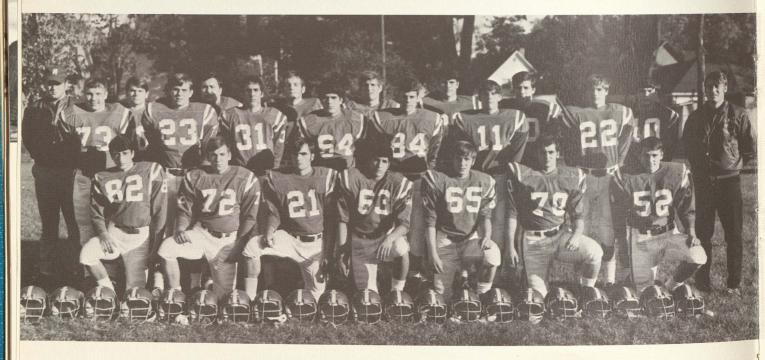

The '70 football season developed spirit, determination, and pride. Uniting 22 team members and a small student body, Cathedral attained its goal — excellence.

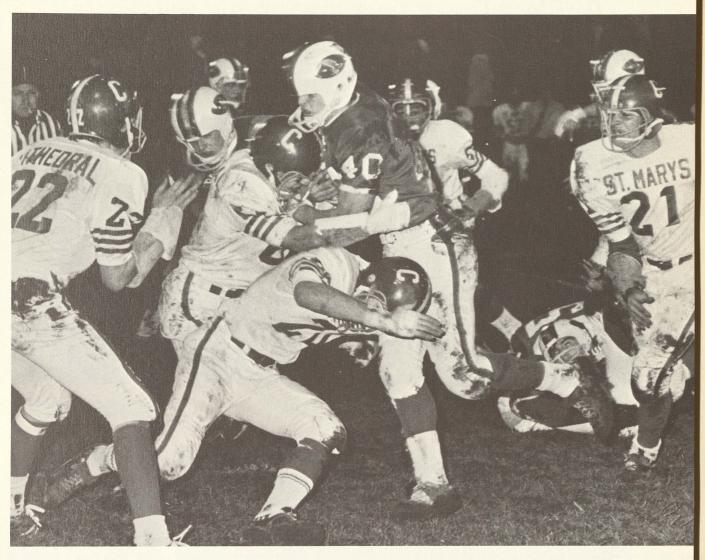

After one successful year, Coach Larry Haight began molding attitudes and talent in auest of an undefeated season.

A banner year at Cathedral seemed very apparent as the scores mounted and the morale grew, while the Big Reds brought home victory in the first three games of the new season. Arch-rival Sts. Peter and Paul was next, but all hopes of the dream burst as the Reds suffered their first defeat to the mellow tune of 22-0. In a pair of bruising battles, the Raiders lost out to cross-town foe St. Stephen's 30-6, and a large but quick Flint Bendle team 6-0.

The Red Machine delighted a large Homecoming crowd by blitzing the Bloomfield Hills Roeper squad 44-6. Coach Haight then took his warriors to Houghton Lake where he showed no mercy in handing his old school a 61-6 setback. The Raiders closed out the '70 football campaign losing to a much larger Byron team 16-7.

Team discipline

Head Coach Larry Haight and Assistant Coach Bob Ryan built a relatively inexperienced team into one of the area powerhouses. The '70-'71 season was only the second year at the helm for Coach Haight and Assistant Coach Bob Ryan's first, as they master-minded a victory formula.

Coaches Haight and Ryan instilled into each team member a feeling of pride and a conviction of unity, paving the way for victory. The hours of preparation which went into each game was evident in the tremendous disciplined and determined attitude of the squad members. The mighty "Red Machine" consistently reached the century mark in point total made possible by a tenacious defense and precisioned offense.

Opponents were often rated and rugged, but the coaches and team devotion and spirit, made it another banner year in basketball at Cathedral.

Underclassmen...

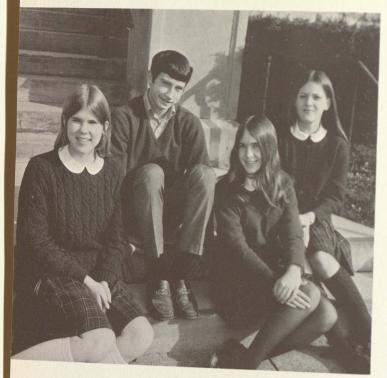

Underclassmen bring to the school the spirit of new blood. They are quick and ready to grasp Cathedral's goals and to practice them. They proudly carry on the school's best traditions. Looking to the future, they seek meanings in what they do and ideals with which to identify. They follow Christ's gospel of love for fellowmen.

Freshman Class boast new record enrollment

Freshmen are 96 unique students, the largest Freshmen class ever to roam the halls of Cathedral High. They strive to be responsible and creative in their schoolwork, learn to relate to one another, get over insecure giggles, hope to master the troubles and tribulations of a school day, and strive to accept the joys and sorrows of life. Most of all, they seek to develop a spirit in school activities as well as to work together as a class to contribute to the well-being of every student at St. Mary's.

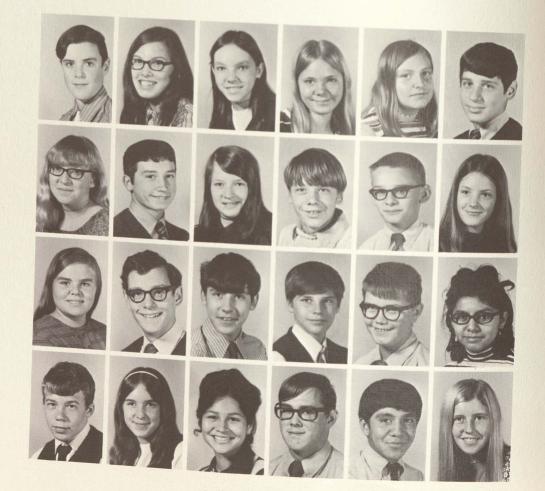

Class of '74 officers are Patricia Pierce, vice-president; Daniel Berlin, president; Karen Churchfield, treasurer; and Mary A. Brandi, secretary.

Sophomores are difficult to beat. Where there is driving spirit, there is the Class of '73. They set their goals and reach them successfully. They have both desire and ability to accomplish. With determination, they won the Homecoming float contest a second year. They were first to earn their quota in the Magazine Drive and exceeded other classes in total sales. They were well represented on the Honor Roll. Some of their athletes were elevated to Varsity status. Their record of achievements speaks for itself.

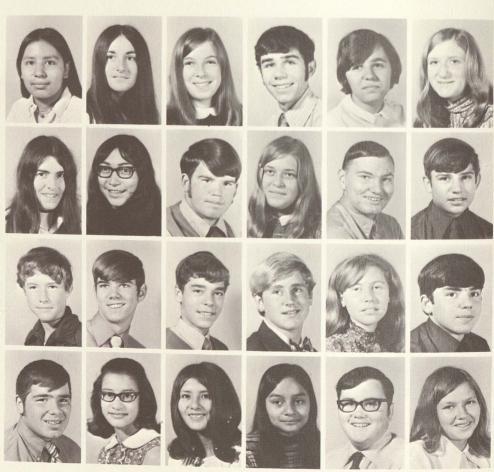

Sophomore class officers give progressive leadership. They are Mike Peruchietti, president; Mark Sowulewski, secretary; Marc Melvin, treasurer; and Cathy Sting, vice-president.

Junior Class unite and achieve success

Juniors are a united class. Setting their sights on new horizons, they prepare themselves for tomorrow's world. They reach out to help others in true Cathedral tradition. They are aware of their responsibility towards themselves and others in their daily duties. They are concerned about a choice of a future career and the preparation necessary for it. What they have done is good, what they will do may be better. When a class is united, they are capable of dependable leadership.

Seniors...

Seniors top the list of successful students in academics and athletics after four years of Cathedral life. Prepared, they look forward to further education and employment. They have developed a Christian philosophy of life which will stand the test of time. They look forward to a new way of life with greater responsibility.

Spirit of 76 seniors is total involvement

The '71 Senior is intensely alive to the contemporary and is eager to be informed with the latest thinking. He not only laughs with others but also shares in their sorrows.

The Class of '71 possesses the marvelous quality of being able to communicate with students on all levels and to relate their past experiences to those of the younger and less refined students.

The Class of '71 has established an enviable scholastic record for itself by maintaining the greatest number of names on the Honor Roll. Some of the class have contributed their talents to successful drama and journalism endeavors. They are known to consume large quantities of reading material outside of school time besides food at a Prom dinner.

The '71 Senior is a real person who involves himself with all aspects of everyday life.

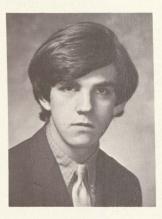

Senior class officers, enjoying pleasent autumn weather, are Martha Kelly, secretary; Cindy Sting, treasurer; Joe Weisenberger, president; and William Kendall, vice-president.

Advertising...

Product promotion is an integral and necessary part of the American way of life. Advertising sparks the national economy by informing and inducing the consumer to buy goods made by his fellowmen. A sound economy depends on successful advertising which in turn supports worthy causes in the local community such as a yearbook and other school products.
